JOSEPH MUSSULMAN TO SING
FIVE WORKS BY LOWNDES MAURY
TUESDAY IN UNIVERSITY RECITAL

MISSOULA--

Dr. Joseph A. Mussulman, a baritone and University of Montana music professor, will sing five works by composer Lowndes Maury, a UM alumnus and North Hollywood, Calif., music teacher, during the chamber music recital at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday (April 17) in the University Music Recital Hall.

The recital, which also will feature the Montana Woodwind Quintet and Montana String Quartet, will be open to the public without charge under the sponsorship of the UM School of Fine Arts and Department of Music.

Maury's "Five Rilke Songs from 'The Book of Hours'", to be sung by Mussulman, are "What will you do, God, when I die?"; "You, neighbor, God, if sometimes in the night"; "If I had grown up in a land where days were free"; "You are the future, the great sunrise red"; and "The first word that you ever spoke was: light."

Other works on the program are "Trois Pieces Breves" by Jacques Ibert and "Quintett opus 91, nr. 3" by Anton Reicha.

University music faculty are members of the Montana Woodwind Quintet and Montana String Quartet.

Quintet members are Mary Jean Simpson, flute; Jerry Domer, oboe; Nancy Cochran, horn; William Manning, clarinet, and Edwin Rosenkranz, bassoon. Quartet members are Eugene Andrie and Gerald Doty, violins; Elizabeth Phillips, viola, and David Hoffman, cello.

A musical composition by Maury entitled "Concerto for English Words--Brass and Percussion", with lyrics from a poem written by Alvaro Cardona-Hine in 1939, was commissioned by Mussulman for UM music groups in the fall of 1968 and was completed in October 1969. The musical composition was premiered Feb. 22, 1970, at the University.
